Astrological Compatibility

Astrologically, each individual is represented by a chart of the planets and houses at the moment of his birth. By comparing and contrasting the interrelationships of two separate charts, the astrologer can reveal the many ways and many levels that two people relate with each other. This is the astrological art of synastry as it has been practiced for several thousand years.

This report analyzes each of the two selected charts and interprets the astrological connections between them. The charts' data, along with planetary positions and house cusps, are printed on the previous page. There are four possible sections to this report, two for each of the charts. Any one of them, or all four of them, will be included here depending on which were requested. For each individual the two possible sections are: 1) How this person approaches relationships. This section considers only the one chart, and is appropriate for all relationships this individual makes. 2) How this person relates specifically with the second person. Here each paragraph interprets a contact between the two charts from one chart's point of view. The text here pertains to this one relationship only, and should be understood in light of the actual nature of the relationship.

Remember that every relationship contains points of similarity and harmony as well as points of conflict and discord. Through understanding, it is possible to cultivate and encourage the positive and harmonious, and keep relationships growing and fruitful through the highs and lows of the passing years.

How You Approach Relationships

Your manner of relating to others is open and direct, and you somehow always manage to get right to the heart of things. No sidesteps. Everyone knows where you stand because your heart is always right there on your sleeve. On meeting you, one might expect that you would seek out another no-nonsense and serious type as a mate. Not so. You find relief from your own single-mindedness with someone who is, above all, fun and easy to talk to; talk and mental stimulation are things you really enjoy. The fact that they are a bit of a lightweight, always on the move, and even a bit frivolous, doesn't bother you one bit. You're delighted.

Gemini on 7th Cusp

Above all, you have a need for partners that are bright, witty, and that like to talk and communicate. You must have mental compatibility before you get serious about someone. Aside from talking, you like others who are interested in speaking and writing.

Mercury Ruler of 7th

Report for Rita Wilson

Strengths in your relationships

Good things tend to come your way, and you could end up with a lot of money, property -- possessions of all kinds. You are by nature generous, and probably give as much as you get. There could be a love of travel and exploring, finding your own way through life. You tend to appreciate authority, your elders, and conservative values. Others will value you for your warmth and openness. You are quite fortunate.

Venus Conjunction Jupiter (orb: 01 02')

Others soon learn how responsible you are, and that they can depend on you for real support. Sure, you are perhaps a little too organized and run more cool than hot, but you really do care and never let your friends down. Whatever you do is built upon a solid foundation, and that includes relationships. Too serious? Aloof? Perhaps, but you are loyal, dependable, and don't enter into relationships lightly.

Moon Trine Saturn (orb: 01 03')

You have a sense of the extraordinary and wonderful about you. People sense that you have an insight into the larger picture, and you can communicate this idea of unity to a group. You are great at working with images, whether psychological, artistic, or cinematic. You probably love movies and music, anything with a grand theme or gesture. You are not just another dreamer. You can put your imagination to work. Your partner may have to work overtime to live up to your ideal of him/her, and to keep you down to earth and away from woolgathering. You need someone who loves to explore the dreamy psychological underside of life. You see beneath the surface of things.

Sun Conjunction Neptune (orb: 02 59')

You manage to cram many lifetimes into one, for it seems like you're always being reborn and starting life over again. Others may have a hard time keeping up with your changes. You do well in face-to-face and gut-level situations that would exhaust most people. You really come into your own when the going gets tough or when it's time to "get down" and face facts. Good leadership potential for emergency situations

Sun Sextile Pluto (orb: 03 08')

You have a knack for coming up with just what the crowd wants. You are nothing else if not an original. You can take an ordinary event and turn it into something brand new, really special. You may have had a somewhat unusual upbringing, and you like a partner who is independent and also a bit unusual. Things are seldom boring with you, for you always have just the right idea of what to do.

Moon Conjunction Uranus (orb: 04 09')

Report for Rita Wilson

Challenges in your relationships

You are torn between the impulse to stand on your own feet, and a need to be cared for and nurtured. Your independent streak may be ashamed of the need on your part for love and affection. It's a no win situation. This could also be re-enforced by a mother and father who may have worked at cross purposes. The resulting tension will have to be dealt with gradually and methodically.

Moon Square Sun (orb: 00 33')

You may choose to pursue a dreamy idealism at the expense of more mundane concerns. Somehow you always manage to pit your ideals against the actual reality of the situation. Is it escapism or vision? Probably some of both. You will need a partner who can bring things into focus without shattering your gentle dream world. There may have been some rather harsh realities connected to your upbringing. You may find yourself putting the feminine principle on a pedestal.

Moon Square Neptune (orb: 02 26')

You may be somewhat of a rebel, with a history of going up against authority. You like to stand alone -- an outrider at the fringe of society -- like the old-time outlaws. You have a knack for separating yourself from the herd. You end up as the loner, although this is not always what you want. You need a partner in this life, a go-between for you and the status quo.

Sun Square Uranus (orb: 03 36')

Report for Rita Wilson Your Relationship with Tom Hanks

There is almost a sense of mystery about your relationship with Tom. You cannot hide things from him, so there are no formalities when you are around him. You feel exposed. The whole thing has a magnetic sexual quality to it which both of you support. You tend to feed on this arrangement, with the result that the experience is strengthening and supportive. Aside from this you may be involved in some kind of financial partnership. He might act as your agent, or as a go-between.

His Moon in Your Eighth House

Whether he has conventional good looks or not, Tom has true sex appeal for you. Conventions go out the window and there it is, right in front of you. He has a way of cutting through any reservations you might have and exposing even your most secret thoughts. There is no use pretending you are anything other than you are. There can be no secrets between you. All this can be terribly exciting. He may be able to serve as a key to some important investment or other financial arrangement. You might inherit money through him.

His Sun in Your Eighth House

The two of you have a great rapport. There is mental kinship. In fact a talk session with Tom almost amounts to therapy for you both. There is a real sense of mutual reflection. It would be hard for you to find a more productive intellectual companion. It is possible that you may work together in some public way through speaking, writing, investigating. A real meeting of the minds.

His Mercury in Your Seventh House

Here is a natural partner, one you find both charming and attractive. Tom shares your social values and has similar needs when it comes to relationships. He values your particular social qualities and the way you relate and feel about others. You both tend to respond to situations in similar ways. Something special seems to happen when you two get together. It's as if you both are in love with love.

His Venus in Your Seventh House

Tom is quite direct and may tend to come on strong, even to the point of aggressiveness. Or, he may evoke a strong verbal response on your part. Whatever the effect, you will find that interchange with him has the result of moving you to think and to have new ideas. Communication will be brisk and may involve lots of emotion. You could find all of this refreshing, inspiring, and just what you need to set you going on some project involving writing or communication.

His Mars in Your Third House

Tom may be a real leader or inspired teacher for you. Through him you may discover a more philosophical and religious side of yourself. You respect his integrity and judgment, and have no trouble following his lead, because he is always fair and knows the right way to handle things. You may have long walks and long talks. Traveling somewhere together would be ideal. He tends to open up your mind to new horizons, perspectives, and possibilities.

His Jupiter in Your Ninth House

He seems to be very hard on your sense of altruism. Your attempts to be charitable or to sacrifice may be played down or belittled by him. He won't tolerate your feeling sorry for yourself or for the state of the world. It could be difficult for you to feel philanthropic or kind when the two of you are together.

His Saturn in Your Twelfth House

Tom is very direct. He seems to cut to the very heart of a situation, which sometimes leaves you feeling exposed and vulnerable. Yet time spent with him can be terribly exciting. You find yourself wanting to get rid of a lot of excess social baggage when you two are together. You may tend to spend a lot of time alone due to the very sensitive and open relationship you share. He may be able to lead you into making some very shrewd and innovative business deals.

His Uranus in Your Eighth House

Your friends may find Tom enchanting. He brings an almost otherworldly quality into your friendships, partly due to his strong idealism and eloquence. He could have the effect of uniting a group around their common center of interest. Music and the arts come to the fore. At times you may feel this relationship has an unreal quality to it, that it lacks all sense of practicality.

His Neptune in Your Eleventh House

A different kind of teacher. Tom tends to view life and philosophy just the way you do. He may take the lead when it comes to introducing you to new ideas and getting rid of worthless pipe dreams. He is an intellectual challenge, and does not hesitate to throw ideas of yours out the window that he finds not to the point. You will seldom find someone who is as intellectually aggressive, a kind of mental purgative. He can change your basic philosophy of life.

His Pluto in Your Ninth House

Your Moon Trine His Saturn (orb: 06 12')

There is real mutual support here. You tend to have similar emotions and are very understanding of each other's feelings. If anything there might be too much of a good thing, and you could get bogged down in the relationship. For the most part though, this is a very nice state of affairs.

Your Moon Conjunction His Moon (orb: 07 09')

Report for Rita Wilson

Challenges in your relationship with Tom Hanks

This may never do. Neither of you are able or willing to give the other much credit. There is a lack of appreciation, and very little sense of shared values. You may not like the same things.

Your Venus Square His Venus (orb: 01 05')

You never know what to expect with Tom. His need for variety and the unusual may conflict with your own more conservative trends. He may tend to be a rebel, with you always playing the authority figure. Sometimes hectic; seldom boring.

Your Sun Square His Uranus (orb: 01 36')

There may be some problems in communication. You may find it difficult to talk with Tom, or attempts at communication end up in a standstill. His attitude and manner may leave you feeling frustrated, unable to communicate.

Your Mercury Square His Sun (orb: 04 47')

You won't support what you feel are unrealistic notions and fantasies on his part. His escapism does nothing for you. You feel he should learn to be more down to earth and practical. There can be much disappointment, and possibly deception, with this combination.

Your Moon Square His Neptune (orb: 05 04')

The two of you feel a lot of attraction for each other, but often as not you end up at opposite ends of the couch. You may not appreciate his more aggressive nature or the way he acts. You may not like the way he makes you feel. He feels unappreciated.

Your Venus Opposition His Mars (orb: 06 35')

You find that it is easy for you to hurt his feelings, or he takes offense easily, with the result that he is not always as supportive of you as you might wish. You both waste a lot of time holding out against the other. You may feel that he ignores you.

Your Sun Square His Moon (orb: 06 36')

Tom may not appreciate the way you come on and act. Your basic energy, the way you feel, is counter in some way to his values and ideals. He may act aloof. You may have a tendency to be a bull in a china shop when it comes to what he cares about.

Your Mars Square His Venus (orb: 07 59')

How You Approach Relationships

You're a demon for details. There is no question in anyone's mind that you have got it all together, at least from an organizational standpoint. You are indeed cool, calm, and collected. Yet there is something missing. You yearn for contact and involvement. You need something to do and someone to care for. Talk about loving punishment -- you feel responsible for just about everyone, and tend to end up with some pretty hopeless cases. And we're talking major dreamers here. You can't resist them -- the woolier, the better. They need your help and can't seem to help themselves. The funny part is that you love it, and them!

Pisces on 7th Cusp

You have a penchant for dreamers, mystics, and the highly imaginative. You love to get carried away romantically, and your friends may find you are unrealistic and often disappointed. You like love right out of a romance novel, complete with a sense of mystery and otherworldliness. You value imagination in a lover, and probably love movies and music.

Neptune Ruler of 7th

Report for Tom Hanks

Strengths in your relationships

You have great emotional control, and this allows you to pace yourself in ways average people cannot. You can keep control when others lose it. This suggests the capacity for sustained effort on your part which may manifest in a natural athletic ability. Your relationships, which tend to be long lasting, are easy going. There is an accent on leadership and masculinity.

Sun Trine Mars (orb: 00 08')

A passionate one. You love it when a crisis emerges and threatens to shatter the normal routine, because you yearn for a chance to undergo really profound changes. You're like the survivalists who wish the world would stop pretending and get down to the nitty-gritty. Fiercely loyal, you would rather see a relationship through hell and high water than abandon it. You delight in emotional confrontation, intense conversations, and secrets of all kinds.

Venus Sextile Pluto (orb: 04 09')

You love to lose yourself in your latest dream, whether it be a person or a project. You find it easy to be caught up in images -- dreams, psychology, metaphysics, cinema, etc. You probably love movies -- anything that flicks on the silver screen. You may be an artist and you certainly run with an artistic crowd. You are charming to the point of being enchanting. Very idealistic.

Venus Trine Neptune (orb: 04 49')

You have a knack for coming up with just what the crowd wants. You are nothing else if not an original. You can take an ordinary event and turn it into something brand new, really special. You may have had a somewhat unusual upbringing, and you like a partner who is independent and also a bit unusual. Things are seldom boring with you, for you always have just the right idea of what to do.

Moon Conjunction Uranus (orb: 08 12')

A real love of science and natural laws. You are a hard and tireless worker with absolute determination and the ability to carry great projects through to completion. Always the protector to all those you come to know, you tend to have long and secure relationships. Since you are a natural conservative, those older than yourself (authority figures) tend to benefit you.

Sun Trine Saturn (orb: 09 02')

Report for Tom Hanks

Challenges in your relationships

There is a tendency to be somewhat taciturn and reserved; perhaps a little too prudent. You have a fear of letting go that may manifest as an apparent lack of emotion. You don't always like what you are feeling, or own up to it. You are probably not an animal lover.

Venus Square Mars (orb: 05 30')

Report for Tom Hanks Your Relationship with Rita Wilson

In Rita you sense that here is someone who instinctively understands and is supportive of your deepest hopes and dreams -- all that is best in you. You were probably good friends right from the start, and this friendship may be more important to you than any love relationship that develops. You both could be part of a group or a cause, and matters of conscience and ideals are something that you both can get behind. When you are with her, your more altruistic ambitions and aims seem to come to the fore.

Her Moon in Your Eleventh House

Rita is, above all, very supportive. If you have been looking for a genuine response to your special qualities, this should be it. Upon meeting her, you felt an instant trust and enjoyed a rare sense of security. She responds to you with warmth and appreciates who you are. It's the next best thing to having a mother! she may have a beneficial effect on your finances and resources too. She has a real instinct for handling money. In addition, other financial benefits may come to you through Rita.

Her Sun in Your Second House

She becomes very articulate when it comes to matters concerning your finances, resources, and possessions in general. You feel that she truly is concerned with what is best and most productive for you. Here is someone you can really talk to about subjects that most might find dull and unexciting. You find her suggestions to the point and almost always productive. You might like to take her on as a business partner just for her financial insight.

Her Mercury in Your Second House

You find her absolutely charming, partly because you know that she really appreciates you. This was true from the first time you met. You have the sense that here is someone who likes you for the same reasons that you like yourself. You can almost do no wrong. You share many of the same values, like the same kind of things, and enjoy each other's company.

Her Venus in Your First House

When all is well, the two of you manage to get a lot done, attending to all of the responsibilities that need caring for. She drives you to a greater response than you could provide on your own when it comes to taking care of business. However, if you are the least bit upset or overloaded, you may experience Rita as too much of a good thing. She may irritate you. Or you may get critical and petty with one another. The whole thing can be hard on your nerves.

Her Mars in Your Sixth House

Rita is your good luck charm. She leads you out of yourself and makes it possible for you to come across looking better in situations than you might without her. People experience you as more expansive and outgoing when you are with her. Your relationship could become a highway to much greater things. There may be a tendency to spend everything and get carried away with projects and ideas.

Her Jupiter in Your First House

Rita may tend to put a damper on the conversation. No matter how bright you may be feeling, she probably remains cool to any of your eloquence -- despite it. She is a person of few words when it comes to you. On the other hand, she causes you to cut back on the outflow of words and to think about what you're saying. You have to work to get your words out. There could definitely be a communication problem here.

Her Saturn in Your Third House

Rita has the capacity for introducing you to radically new goals and groups of people. Perhaps through her you will meet a whole new set of friends, or be part of a group working on a new-age project. You may come to have a completely new idea of your fellow man, of brotherhood, and all of that stuff. She has radical ways of seeing things. All this may come as quite a surprise to you and may upset the traditional apple cart. She is anything but boring.

Her Uranus in Your Eleventh House

No matter how dreamily romantic this relationship feels, it could have a very real quality if it extends to your finances or resources. Rita is an idealist of the first water and may not have the practical experience needed to make decisions involving money and property. She has the very best intentions, but you could experience a sense of loss through her. Better to enjoy her company and let the loss be all the petty details of life, rather than some real investments.

Her Neptune in Your Second House

She may exercise an enormous influence on how you view your role in life. Your whole idea of what you are here for and what it is to be human may be transformed. Rita has a way of separating the wheat from the chaff and getting right to the heart of things. Through knowing her, you may find yourself going through deep changes in attitude, discovering more compassion, self-sacrifice, and patience. She will put you in touch with the saint in yourself.

Her Pluto in Your Twelfth House
